

Guiding principle

- Effectiveness: We endeavor to achieve lasting results for our clients by expeditious, targeted and temporary deployment of experience and skills.
- Competencies: By maintaining and developing the aim network, and also by arranging for further training of the employees, we ensure the needed skills are provided for our assignments.
- Identity: We place great store on working with ethically sound and integral personalities.
- Availability: By maintaining and developing the aim network we ensure the availability of the needed skills and experience.
- Flexibility: An interim assignment runs according to the principle: The need determines the work quota We consciously live by the motto: As little as possible, but as much as necessary!
- Independence: We approach the tasks without internal tied interests. A neutral view bound only to the success of your enterprise helps in providing the best solution.

The management system supports us in our daily work. Experiences and observations help us to find new ideas that help us to continuously improve our services.

The areas of occupational health and safety as well as the prevention of industrial and non-industrial accidents are of central importance.
